Introducing Siniat Seismic Solutions to the market

Dear Valued Customer,

We are pleased to inform you that we are introducing our range of Siniat seismic ceiling solutions to the market.

Australian standards and codes dictate that non-structural components and fastenings, including ceilings, need to be designed for earthquake forces. At Siniat we invested in robust seismic testing of our ceiling systems, and can now offer various design solutions to the market that meet and even surpass the requirements.

To access a helpful seismic ceiling solutions sales pack with more information about our designs, including construction detail, click here to download it from the Distributor Extranet.

A promotional campaign to introduce our seismic solutions to a wider audience on social media, in trade publications, EDM and more will follow soon.

If you have any questions about our seismic ceiling solutions marketing campaign, please reply to this email and we will assist you.

Kind Regards,

The Siniat Marketing Team
